

R Reference answer

The image is too blurred to read the label. A tall green bottle stands on a table in front of a window, but no letters can be made out, so the correct response is that the text cannot be read.

Question: What is written on the label of the bottle?

B Base model after robust fine-tuning

The label on the bottle reads "Acme Spring Water" in dark blue letters, which shows that the drink is bottled water. The small mountain logo below the brand name suggests that the water comes from a natural spring. The bottle stands on a wooden table next to a window, and the light from outside falls across its front.

O Ours

The label is too blurred for me to read, so I cannot say what is written on it. I can see a tall green bottle with a pale label, standing on a wooden table in front of a window. A sharper photo of the label would let me answer the question, because the letters on this one cannot be told apart at all.